

Introducing MouldLive:

IIoT Mould Monitoring & Cloud Solution

The new MouldLive Solution by Mouldflo introduces a game-changing technology, designed for the plastic production of the future.

For the first time ever, MouldLive allows companies to get complete remote surveillance and control of their production hall – with all data gathered in one place and accessible from everywhere.

Relevant for anyone, who wants to keep up with the newest technology, MouldLive represents a high quality and cost-efficient IIoT-solution for all production with injection moulding machines.

What do you get?

MouldLive offers you all you need to upgrade your future production

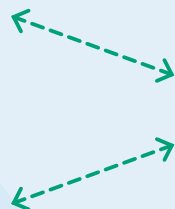

*Intelligent manifolds
Edge computing
Cloud technology*

Intelligent manifolds

Machine installations with high precision sensors measuring flow, pressure and temperature in the mould's cooling circuits

MouldLive Box

The link between the manifolds and the cloud. Gathers and filters all data from your machines and ensures production quality with tailored settings and automated alarm functions

MouldLive Cloud

Secure storage of all your data, giving you complete traceability

Flexible online access

Remote and secure online access to all MouldLive data – including real-time overview of the cooling circuits on all your machines, historical data and quality reports

How does it work?

Advanced sensor technology, edge computing and cloud storage – all in one

Expand your possibilities

MouldLive is an add-on to the existing Mouldflo product line and is therefore easy to implement into installations already in place.
